Leslie Crandall Dies in Hospital; Burial Here Mon.

Sudden Passing of Well Known Resident Is Shock to Community

Leslie C. Crandall, 48, native of Antioch community, died late Thursday night in Condell Memorial hospital, Libertyville, following an illness of only a few days. Stricken on April 30 with a sudden illness he was taken the following morning to the hospital, where he rallied and was thought to be on the way to recovery when a sudden turn for the worse resulted in his death.

Never before had Mr. Crandall been afflicted with a serious illness. He was of joyful disposition and had the appearance of buoyant health. His sudden death was a shock to his family and friends.

Owner and manager of the ice company which for many years bore his name, he had lived most of his life in this community. Disposing of his business here in 1932, he acquired an 800-acre tract of lake shore land near Cable, Wis., where he began one of the most ambitious programs of development ever seen in that area. His cabin camp for vacationists on the shores of Lake Namakagon is recognized as one of the finest resorts in Wisconsin. As an officer of the Indian Head Resort Owners association he was among those credited with popularizing the Bay View county region as a resort area.

Born in 1895
The son of Hervey and Alice Crandall, he was born near Antioch Feb. 27, 1895. His marriage to Mabel Barthel occurred on Sept. 14, 1916. There are two sons, Franklin, of Antioch, and Jack II, a U. S. Marine veteran of Guadalcanal, who is now serving in the Pacific war zone.

Resides his wife and sons, he leaves a brother, Milton; also two sisters, Mrs. Gladys Pisateri and Mrs. Ethel Ingalls, both of Chicago, also three granddaughters.

Funeral services were held here Monday at 2 p. m. in Strang's funeral home, with the Rev. Howard Ganster, pastor of Christ Episcopal church, Waukegan, officiating. Burial was in Hillside cemetery.

SUGAR FOR CANNING WILL BE AVAILABLE, RATION BOARD SAYS

Chairman Thompson Says Allotments About Same as Last Year

Now consumers may obtain sugar for canning and freezing this season's precious fruit crop was announced yesterday by R. A. Thompson, chairman of the local War Price and Rationing Board 41-3, Lake Villa. Mr. Thompson said:

"Sugar for canning is being allotted on about the same basis as last year—that is, one pound for each four quarts or eight pounds of the finished product. A top limit of 25 pounds per person is set in the new regulations to be granted only in a relatively few cases where a large amount of fruit will be canned and preserved. Within the 25 pound per person limit, any family can apply for sugar to put up jams, jellies, and preserves at the rate of five pounds per individual. This is more generous allowance than last year, when sugar for preserves was limited to one pound per person.

Antioch Boys Are Called to Army

Among the 43 men sent into the armed forces from northern Lake county within the last few days are three from Antioch. The lakes area supplied 11, according to announcement by the County No. 3 board at North Chicago.

The Antioch boys called are: Lyle Teichert, son of August Teichert; Robert Glenn Phillips, son of William Phillips, past commander of the Antioch Legion post; and John N. Brackney, of Loon Lake.

Two from Lake Villa are: Arthur Daniel Slavin and Carl Anderson Nadar. The call also included Elmer Langvad, printer and linotype operator for the Waukegan News-Sun, who resides in Winthrop Harbor.

The Observer

Paying the war debt wouldn't be so bad if we didn't keep thinking of that 50 billion dollars the New Dealers siphoned off before in its bungling efforts to cure the depression—or were they really trying to cure the depression?

Well—Who Is It?
"Almost Confidential. Both her children said 'dada' before they said 'mama.' Is the sorrowful and hurt admission of a young matron of Antioch, Ill., pipes E. V. Durling in his column 'On the Side,' in the Chicago Herald-American.

Now back to what was on our mind in the first place: Government propaganda used to be something we Americans read about in foreign countries. Now we have the office of War Information (?) and the 'New Deal.'

7,100 Surgical Dressings
The Surgical Dressing unit of Antioch turned in 7,100 dressings during April. It is hoped that production during the summer will be increased. Instructors' class has been postponed until June when the unit moves into new quarters at the Antioch Grade school.

"Phrases are pretty things, son," says an old timer, "but if your horse loses his way in midstream get another one—fast."

"Let the government pay for it," was beautiful music back in the '30's. Then came income tax day, 1943.

If the New Dealers are right that there is only one man capable of being President, then what became of the Republic?

Fifty telephone calls were received by an Antioch woman who offered a baby buggy for sale in the classified columns of the News. Proving it pays to advertise or the local population is on the upgrade.

One man in the White House for 16 years? Oh, yes, there is a word for it.

Time to buy village vehicle tags again. Clerk Roy L. Murrie has them. Same price as last year. Dog tax now due, too.

C. S. Young, chairman of the War Finance Committee, Seventh Federal Reserve Dist., writes the News: "The outstanding support given the War Bond Drive by newspapers was, unquestionably, one of the principal factors in making it a memorable success."

COUNTY RECEIVES $259,642 GAS TAX ALLOTMENT FOR '42

Antioch Has Balance in State Treasury for Street Improvements

Lake county and its principal municipalities received $359,842 in allotments from 1942 Illinois state gasoline taxes. It was disclosed in a statistical analysis, prepared by Bareus, Kindred & Co., specialists in Illinois municipal bonds.

Of the funds distributed by the state in the 12 months ending January 31, 1943, Lake county's share was $221,517. Waukegan received $68,811; Highland Park, $20,743; North Chicago, $10,187; Lake Forest, $13,738; and Zion, $12,646.

While no figures were available for Antioch, it is believed the allotment for the village will amount to an estimated $1,700. In normal years the village received about $2,200, but gas rationing during the last months of 1942, it is believed will reduce the normal allotment by at least $500. An estimated $3,000 for this municipality remains with the treasury of the state highway department which may be used for projects approved by the department.

Due to priorities on road building materials at the present time, many projects will have to be held over until after victory in the war. Then the funds accumulated may be used to construct needed improvements and will serve also to relieve unemployment when service men return to civilian life, local officials said.

For Illinois as a whole, approximately 1.4 out of every 3 cents per gallon in state gasoline taxes was returned to counties and municipalities. Gasoline tax collections totaled $44,544,998 in 1942, of which $21,578,510 was returned in net allotments to counties and towns, according to state finance department figures. Of this distribution, counties received $9,522,218; and municipalities $12,056,292. County distributions were based on the amount of motor vehicle license fees paid by the residents of each county; city allotments were based on the 1940 population census.

Prohibition? Not Now, Speaker Tells Lions

Prohibition of the sale of liquor is not in the offing, and a repetition of the Volstead debacle of the "drunken twenties" is not now in sight, Val F. Trinen, of Chicago, director of education for Calvert distilleries, told the Antioch Lions' club Monday night at the dinner held at the Roundup.

Speaking of the economic feature of the distilling industry, the speaker said that the government, deprived of liquor revenue, would be forced to assess about $25 per person through other taxes in order to carry on the ordinary affairs of government. Pointing out the evils of prohibition during the bootleg era when powerful gangland leaders arose to control the illegal traffic, Trinen said the government was not only deprived of the revenue, but it was forced to spend extra millions in a futile attempt at law enforcement. He said distillers recommend moderate drinking for those who want to drink; but "if you don't want to drink, leave it alone."

Parents of 8th Graders To Be Guests of High School P.T.A. Monday

Parents of eighth grade students are to be guests at the year's final meeting of the Antioch High School Parent-Teacher association to be held at 8 o'clock Monday night at the high school.

Presiding at the meeting will be the new officers elected at the April meeting. They include: Mrs. Irving Elms, elected president for the third year; Mrs. Elmer Hunter, vice president; Mrs. William Jones, treasurer; and Miss Mildred Krusa, secretary.

The speaker is W. J. Bergfeld, English, speech and dramatic instructor at Libertyville High school. His subject will be, "Leadership."

Wm. E. Durst Comes to Pantry

W. E. Durst, who was employed by Collins' Grill in Waukegan for nearly five years, is now working in Phil Fortin's Pantry. Mr. Fortin will devote most of his time at his tavern, Beverly Inn, at Rts. 173 and 52.

News of the Boys in Service

Bill Chase in Navy
Great Lakes, Illinois—William F. Chase, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chase, Route 2, Antioch, Ill., is being moulded into a fighting Blue-jacket at the U. S. Naval Training Station here where he has reported for 12 weeks of "boot" training.

He will receive basic training in seamanship, Naval customs and procedure, and physical hardening. An important part of his program will be a series of aptitude tests and a personal interview which he will be given to aid in assigning him to the type of work for which he is best qualified in the Navy.

Upon graduation he will be given a nine-day leave, after which he will be assigned to one of the Navy's trade schools for special training, or be sent directly to sea, depending on his scores in the aptitude tests.

A recruit sufficiently skilled in a particular trade needed by the Navy may be given a petty officer rating upon completing recruit training and assigned directly to active duty.

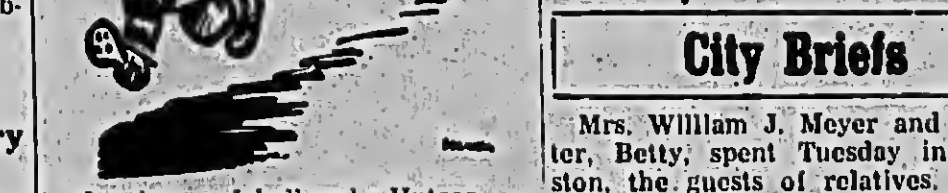

More Girls in Service
Elsie Malget, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Malget of Antioch, recently entered service in the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps. She is now in training in Florida, and her address is: Aux. Elsie Malget, 10 Co. 6 Reg., 2nd WAAC Training Center, Cantonment Area, Daytona Beach, Florida.

An Antioch girl has entered the Women's Reserve in the U. S. Marine corps. She is Miss Jeanette E. Keeney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Keeney. Her mother accompanied her to Chicago yesterday where she was sworn into service. Marine Keeney was formerly employed in Madison, Wis.

Pfc. William Morgan returned Tuesday to Bowman Field after a week's furlough spent with his mother, Mrs. Earl Gibbs. William has received appointment as air cadet and has been transferred to the 27th Air Base Squadron at Bowman Field, Louisville, Kentucky.

Sgt. David Bracken, writing from somewhere in England, tells the Antioch Legion that he appreciates what the boys are doing on the home front. (continued on page 5)

War Bond Sales Total $80,591.75

Lake Co. Buys 5.6 Million; National Total Over 18 Billions

Final report on the recent war bond drive submitted by co-chairmen, Otto S. Klass and Edward C. Jacobs, indicates a total sale in Antioch township of $80,591.75.

Identical letters received this week by the co-chairmen from Eugene Hotchkiss, Lake county representative of the Chicago Metropolitan War Finance committee, commended the local men for the success of the local drive.

The letters stated: "Congratulations on your showing and my hearty thanks to you and your committee for your part in it and the co-operation which you gave us."

The Antioch News received the following letter from Mr. C. S. Young, chairman, Seventh Federal Reserve District, War Finance committee:

"Much credit for making the Second War Loan Campaign a success belongs to the newspapers. The national goal was 13 billion dollars, but this greatest of war financing drives put over 18 billion dollars into the Treasury.

"The outstanding support given the drive by newspapers was, unquestionably, one of the principal factors in making it a memorable success. The newspapers in the Seventh Federal Reserve District were second to none in their understanding and cooperation; and I want to thank you sincerely for your unselfish generosity."

Chairmen Are Grateful
A summation of the local sales submitted by the chairmen, reveals that the local post office made 130 sales of bonds for a total of $6,975; the State Bank of Antioch, 241 sales, totaling $28,891.75; and the First National Bank of Antioch, 151 sales for a total of $44,725.

Mr. Klass and Attorney Jacobs today expressed their appreciation for the splendid work of committee members which made the second war bond drive a success.

SUPERVISORS ASK QUARANTINE OF DOGS IN COUNTY

Resolution Calls for Action to Curb Spread of Rabies

Development of several cases of rabies among children in some parts of Lake county brought action by the county board of supervisors Tuesday when a resolution calling for a county wide quarantine of dogs was passed by a vote of 28 to 1. The dissenting vote was voiced by Supervisor Harry Christensen of Grant township, who felt that there is not yet need for such drastic enforcement.

Four cases of rabies among children was reported, two of them bitten by gophers, one by a cat and another by a dog in Cuba township.

Supervisors favoring the measure pointed out that the number of stray dogs in the county is increasing rapidly. Unwanted dogs have been transported to rural areas by their city owners, supervisors said, and this practice has increased since meat rationing. Homeless dogs running in packs are proving a menace to sheep, cattle, chickens and other farm animals.

As the quarantine will provide that all dogs be kept confined to the home of the owners, the plan will enable police and other law enforcement officers to determine which ones are stray animals.

The quarantine will be enforced by the state department of agriculture, through local officials, supervisors said.

In a letter to the News, Wm. R. Bane, of the Victor Lubricator Sales company, who is a resident of the area, points out the damage being done to unfenced Victory gardens in this locality by dogs running in packs. "In my locality stray dogs are running in packs, destroying wild game life. I have on various occasions tramped through the woods and have seen wild game killed or crippled, and have actually seen packs of dogs in the midst of such killings." Bane says he has seen summer visitors abandoning their dogs here because of the rationing program.

Mrs. Louise Gilbert and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph James and family were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. James Sunday.

State Buys 450 Acres For Lake Shore Park

The state of Illinois has just purchased 450 acres of land five miles north of Waukegan, in Lake county, for a new state park. The tract has a Lake Michigan shoreline of a mile and a half long, and contains fine stands of oak and white pine.

Governor Dwight H. Green, in announcing the purchase, disclosed that the U. S. Army has been given permission to construct a soldiers' training camp on the parksite. The public will also be allowed to use the park in the near future.

Negotiations to acquire the tract from the owner, the North Waukegan Harbor and Dock association, for $90,000, were completed by Walter A. Rosenfield, director of public works and buildings. Director Rosenfield praised the work of eighth district assemblymen, Senator Ray Paddock and Representatives Nick Keller and Harold Kelsey for their part in bringing the negotiations to a successful conclusion.

The new park is the first state-owned recreational area bordering Lake Michigan, and will afford vacation facilities to a populous region including most of Chicago and the Fox River cities. Illinois now has about 20,000 acres in its park system.

EXAMINE TWENTY TOTS AT GRADE SCHOOL ROUNDUP

(By Verna Kufalk and June Hunter)
Twenty children of pre-school and kindergarten age were given physical examinations at the grade school Monday under the sponsorship of the local Parent-Teacher association. The Summer Round-up is an annual event.

The examinations were conducted by Dr. R. D. Williams, Antioch health physician, and Dr. L. V. Madden, dentist. The doctors had as their assistants Mrs. E. Wharton, county school nurse, Mrs. A. G. Simon, Mrs. Fern Lux, Miss Dorothy Light, and Mrs. Myrus Nelson of the Antioch P. T. A.

While the general health of the youngsters was found high, eleven had defective teeth; four had improper posture; three were found to be under-nourished, and nine had defective tonsils.

Eyesight was found most favorable, with only one child having slightly defective vision. One child needs vaccination for smallpox and three should have diphtheria inoculations. These treatments will be administered at the start of school next September.

One child was found to be in perfect health and will be awarded a Summer Round-up certificate next fall.

Roosevelt and the 4th Term

When Franklin D. Roosevelt submitted to the "forced draft" in 1940, it was freely forecast that should he be elected, he would again be a candidate for a fourth term.

Now that time has come. The drums are beginning to beat again to win the country to the belief that we have so far deteriorated as a people that there is but one among us qualified to rule. Twice, from the White House steps, New Dealers have told the country in recent weeks that it must be Roosevelt again.

This new campaign must bring two deep emotions into the breasts of Americans:

First, they will regret to see the President, with all of his responsibilities, bringing politics into the war for the next 18 months when victory on the foreign fields rather than at the polls is so important. They would choose to hear the President say that from now until January, 1945, he will devote his full time to winning the war and bringing our boys back home with the least loss of life; and then, with victory won or nearly won, he would retire to his own fireside, turning the White House over to the free choice of a free people.

The other emotion must be one of determination to repel the effects of the President and the New Deal bureaucrats to perpetuate themselves in office. Americans will look at the confusion of Washington, the mangled food situation, the three million bureaucrats wasting the substance of the nation and interfering with production on the farms and in factories. They will realize that four more years of Roosevelt means four more years of Hopkins, of Henderson, of Wallace—of Frankfurter stooping from the Supreme Court bench to play politics. They will fix the blame where the blame belongs.

Memo to Farmers

Some of us can remember when the Department of Agriculture was dedicated to serving the farmer—not destroying him.

And, remembering, it is difficult to believe the concoctions the economic play-boys of the Department today can put together to plague the farmer.

We are indebted to the Washington Times-Herald for turning up this latest plan to re-make America:

"It seems the Bureau of Agricultural Economics wants to make 20 per cent of the rural population of the United States move to cities after the war, whether the ruralites like it or not.

"F. F. Elliot, chief agricultural economist of the department, says the plan to cut post-war rural population to 80 per cent of its present level is in line with the projected revamping of American economy and possibly that of the entire world.

"The outline fits snugly with recurrent reports that the planners have in mind creation of a hugely industrialized United States with Latin America supplying the food."

Elliot tentatively suggests that farm production be maintained "at such levels and in such patterns as to permit adequate diets adapted to the economic resources and food habits of the different income groups."

The blue-print he is drawing up would include an organized market system, controlled presumably by the Government, with fixed prices for the farmer, the marketman and the consumer.

We hope, of course, our farmer friends will not hear of Dr. Elliot and his plans to move them to the city.

LEGIONNAIRES ALL OUT IN WAR EFFORT

The part being played by Legion men of Antioch post and other posts throughout Lake county in aiding the all out war effort is well known to all citizens of the community. The work of the Antioch post is typical of the efforts of veterans of 1917-1918 throughout the land. The vast scope of the work of veterans is reflected in statistics just announced by the American Legion, Department of Illinois.

At the present time more than 150,000 Legionnaires are back in the service again, many of them holding important assignments with the overseas service.

In addition, approximately 350,000 others are actively engaged in civilian defense work, serving as air raid wardens, airplane spotters, auxiliary police and firemen, and other O. C. D. aides.

A third group is utilizing its World War I experiences with the Selective Service system. It is stated that over 60 per cent of all draft boards are members of the American Legion.

Other volunteer activities in which several thousand other Legionnaires are engaged include war bond sales, scrap collection, voluntary recruiting service, and the development of rehabilitation programs designed to facilitate the care of the thousands of World War II veterans now being discharged from the service because of physical or mental disabilities.

Tested Soybean Seed Available to Farmers

Lake County farmers who are looking for soybean seed will find names and addresses of producers with surplus seed included in three separate lists prepared by the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, it is announced by Farm Adviser Ray T. Nicholas, who has a copy of the lists. These carry the names of farmers who submitted the highest germinating samples of beans.

Definite shortages of seed exist in the northern third of the state, and, while there is considerable surplus seed in Central Illinois, a lot of it is unfit for seeding purposes, according to J. C. Mackleman, crops extension specialist of the college. No farmer can afford to take chances on soybean seed this year and hence should use only seed of known germination, he says. Seed listed is only that which tested 80 per cent or above.

Copies of the lists may be obtained upon request from the College of Agriculture, Urbana, or in Farm Adviser Ray T. Nicholas' Farm Bureau office.

Home Bureau To Teach Safe Canning Methods

Throughout the county this coming month Home Bureau units will hear their local leaders talk on "The Home Canning of Fruits, Vegetables and Meats." Emphasis will be laid on the danger of poisoning from botulism bacillus. Homemakers will be warned not to taste home canned non-acid vegetables without first bringing them to a rapid boil, as the bacillus, if present, contains a deadly toxin not readily detectable.

However, this danger can be eliminated by the use of the steam pressure cooker, which will be demonstrated by the leaders. They will also give out instruction sheets covering the canning of non-acid vegetables and meats by this method. They will also discuss the hot water bath method of processing fruits and tomatoes to insure good results.

During the minor lesson, "The Care and Repair of Household Appliances," several valuable leaflets will be distributed on the maintenance of the washing machine, range, refrigerator, ironing equipment and household rubber.

The following leaders in this area are equipped to give information to anyone in their community needing help in Food Conservation:

Antioch Unit—Mrs. C. L. Kutli, Miss Bertha Schmidt.
Hickory Unit—Mrs. J. A. Cunningham, Mrs. V. L. Bonner.
Wadsworth Unit—Mrs. John Stehr, Mrs. C. J. Fisher.

Red Cross Trains 43 in Home Nursing; Award Certificates

Illinois and Lake County progress in American Red Cross efforts toward nurse recruitment for the army and navy, and toward strengthening the home front with nurse's aides and women trained in home nursing was made known here today by E. Merle Schriener, chairman of the Waukegan-North Chicago and North Lake County Chapter.

The chapter here has to date awarded 143 Red Cross home nursing certificates and classes are now going on. The chapter goal for the fiscal year 1942-1943 is 550 certificates.

"With more and more doctors and nurses going with the armed forces, Lake county needs the family protection of women trained in the rules of good health and ready to combat the first symptoms of sickness," said Mrs. Harry Hall, who heads the home nursing program. "But the need is great for many more to take the course and thus fortify this community against disease."

The Illinois total of home nursing certificates issued between July 1, 1942, and March 31, 1943, is 26,187, compared with a 1942-43 state goal of 62,400.

SEEK TO ENROLL 1,800 IN LAKE COUNTY 4-H CLUB

"There are approximately 1800 boys and girls in Lake county who are eligible to membership in 4-H clubs and who should take part in this great work not only because of the benefits to themselves, but also for the contribution they can make to the war effort," according to Ray T. Nicholas, Farm Adviser, and Mrs. Helen Volk, home adviser.

A special effort to enroll these members in 4-H clubs is being made now.

With a total enrollment of 427 in 1942, the 4-H clubs in the county are making a special effort to increase food production with victory gardens in addition to numerous other worthwhile projects. However, the help of all other boys and girls who could become members is needed if the maximum contribution to the war effort is to be made by the young people in Lake county.

All 4-H members conduct definite projects in better farming and home-making practices under supervision of their local leaders, county farm and home advisers and the extension service of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Information about 4-H memberships can be obtained from Ray T. Nicholas, farm adviser, or Helen Volk, home adviser. Any of the local 4-H club leaders can also furnish information regarding 4-H club work.

Newly organized clubs in the county include Ivanhoe-Mundelein-Diamond Lake area; Newport; Warren; Gages Lake and Grayslake.

Other established, agricultural clubs and their leaders are:

(Excerpt from letter written by Ray Webb from battlefield of San Jacinto): "They are not hiking in very hard, only about twelve or fourteen miles a day. We usually make camp about noon and do not move until the next morning. . . I don't think I told you what each man has to carry on his back during this hike. My pack contains gun, shelter half, five pins, pair shoe laces, towel, comb, rope, suit of underwear, two pairs of socks, towel, comb, tooth brush and paste, soap, razor, shaving cream, foot powder, tablet, book, bacon, 2 boxes hard tack, coffee, sugar, salt and pepper. Lake County 1942 Christmas Seal Sale Second High in State

Lake County's 1942 Christmas Seal sale totaled $19,406.47, according to the annual report of Miss Orpha L. White, executive secretary of the Lake County Tuberculosis Association at the annual meeting held at the county sanitarium on April 28. The amount represents the largest Seal Sale in the history of the association and was exceeded by only one other county in the down-state counties of the state—Winnebago.

Miss White gave some very interesting figures showing how these Seal Sale dollars are being spent in an effort to promote a case-finding program which will result in bringing active cases of tuberculosis to the Sanatorium for treatment.

The free chest clinics held by the Association for the last sixteen years have been combined with the outpatient clinics of the Sanatorium. The holding of one clinic serviced by both organizations, the voluntary and the official, tends to better efficiency in taking care of the patients in attendance. The Association with Seal Sale Dollars assumes the expense of the free chest clinics while the Sanatorium takes care of the cost of outpatient clinics as a part of the treatment given by the Sanatorium to tuberculosis patients. This was accomplished through the cooperation of Dr. Charles K. Petter and Miss Orpha White with the mutual agreement of the Association and the Sanatorium. Mrs. Arthur Trieger, Mrs. Barney Trieger and Mrs. Roy Kufalk attended the meeting from Antioch. Mrs. Barney Trieger is a board member.

Producing FOOD FOR VICTORY on the Farms of Northern Illinois

In this modern dairy barn electric lighting, electric milkers and the electric water pump are all "extra farm hands" that help to increase milk production.

Thousands of dairy farmers rely on Electricity to boost production

Homemade stirrer cools milk quickly, automatically. The plan for building an electric stirrer like this one will be sent to you upon request. Just phone or write your nearest Public Service Company office.

Hot water for every dairy purpose—and plenty of it with the electric water heater. Cleaning milk utensils the thorough, hot water way means milk with a lower bacteria count—less chance of rejection.

Milking machine eases labor shortage. With 25 head of dairy cattle on this farm the milking machine takes the place of 2 or 3 hand milkers.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Adam and Fallen Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 9.

The Golden Text was: "As in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive" (1 Cor. 15: 22).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Now I say, That the heir, as long as he is a child, differeth nothing from a servant, though he be lord of all; and because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father. Wherefore thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ" (Gal. 4: 1, 7, 8).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Whatever indicates the fall of man or the opposite of God or God's absence, is the Adam-dream, which is neither Mind nor man, for it is not begotten of the Father. . . . God is the creator of man, and the divine Principle of man remaining perfect, the divine idea or reflection, man, remains perfect. . . . The relations of God and man, divine Principle and idea, are indestructible in Science; and Science knows no lapse from nor return to harmony, but holds the divine order or spiritual law, in which God and all that He creates are perfect and eternal, to have remained unchanged in its eternal history" (pp. 282, 470).

Who Has The Money For 2nd War Loan?

"Where is all the money coming from to meet the 13 billion dollars of the Second War Loan goal?" is a question heard on many slides. It will come out of the 45-billion dollar surplus earnings of 1913, according to statistics reported by Treasury experts.

During 1911 personal savings of individuals amounted to 9 billion dollars. During 1913 this surplus or prospective savings will increase by 36 billion dollars over 1911 when consumer goods were easy to get.

Now that prices are high, thrifty people will make their goods last longer and place more money in War Bonds.

Paint Multiplies Reflection
D. F. Wilcock of the Basic Science Laboratory of the University of Cincinnati has found that new white finishes which have been developed for interior walls reflect as much as 72 per cent of the ultra-violet rays from ultraviolet ray "health lamps" compared with less than 10 per cent of such reflection in an ordinary room. The findings indicate that users of the lamps in rooms properly painted for their use will receive more of the beneficial rays than otherwise would be the case.

14 SEQUOITS ENTERED
IN CO. TRACK MEET

(By Billie Maye Runyard)
The fifteenth annual Lake county track meet will be held at Lake Forest this week. Fourteen of our men are entered: Smith, Klass, Hartnell, Meyers, Hagaman, Ellis, Kaufman, Radtke, Stastney, Good, Krueger, Wilhelm, Nielson and Barnstable. Dale was the only Antioch man entered in the district meet Friday. He placed fourth!

We're hoping our tracksters (that's track slang for runners), when going down that eluder path (making a dash) will be speedsters.

Antioch, Grant, Harrington and Zion men are allowed to enter three track events and a relay. Track events are any contest except the relay. The larger schools such as Waukegan can enter men in only two track events and a relay.

Schools are awarded by points: five points wins first place, four points for second, etc.

The men are going out against some pretty keen competition—we know they'll do their best to live up to their "Fighting Sequoit" tradition.

Educational Meets

(By Judy Pregoner)
Friday, May 7, Mr. Birkhead attended an Educational Conference at the Teachers' College in DeKalb. The topic, which was "Education and the Emergency," included the supply and demand of teachers and the maintenance of educational standards during the present emergency.

How the emergency may be met by the educational departments and agencies in the state was discussed later.

Mr. Birkhead also attended another meeting on May 8 in Chicago at the Palmer House. It was the Regional meeting of the Illinois High School principals association. "Wartime Adjustment for the Secondary Schools of Illinois," "High School Victory Corps," and "Recommendations for Curricular Activities" were among the subjects discussed.

Shorthand Students
Pass Rigid Tests

(By Judy Pregoner)
The first year shorthand class is progressing rapidly. Out of the 21 girls in the class 13 have passed their 60 word test which is the yearly requirement. Last Thursday 5 passed their 80 word test (in yours truly's opinion that happens to be a swift rate).

Kathleen Fields; Betty Gossel, Shirley Harness, Alice Harvey, and Rose Marie Zellhofer, named in alphabetical order, were the lucky five.

We also tried for the Jr. O. G. A. (Order of Gregg Artists) awards. We wrote a letter whose ratings will be based on the size of the characters, their position on the line, and their clarity. The names of the students who qualified won't be known until later when the results are received from the Credentials Department of Gregg Writers.

The second year secretarial class is making a thorough study of preparation for job finding and behavior on the job. This study includes an analysis of their skills, personal characteristics, applications, and interviews. In connection with this study they are making personal rating charts of themselves and their classmates. The rating charts include leadership, industry, personal appearance, and grooming, cultural refinement, getting along with others, and dependability.

A movie, "Finding Your Life's Work," will serve as visual education in this study.

Here's to better secretaries and stenographers!

SEQUOITS LOSE
TO WILMOT, 6 TO 1

(By Clare Steben)
May seventh the Antioch Sequoit's baseball team played Wilmot hero at Antioch. The Sequoits were defeated six to one, although our boys out-hit the Wilmot team seven to six. Their hits came only when they counted.

Richards, the Wilmot pitcher, was the outstanding player of the game. He scored four hits for his team while batting and struck out 11 of our men.

The losing pitcher was Antioch's Lawrence Yopp. Loose fielding contributed to his downfall.

The Poppy Poster contest was won by Dolores Smoak and Dick Hansen of the eighth grade and Shirley Vos of the 7th grade. They won 1st, 2nd and 3rd prizes respectively in class 2, which includes 7th, 8th

Home Economics Class
Visits Scott's Dairy

(By Lois Truax)
The third year Home Economics class has been studying a unit of community health. While studying this unit they made a trip to Scott's Dairy on Wednesday morning with their teacher, Miss Dixon.

When they arrived they were told of the processes that are carried on in pasteurization of milk and the means that are taken for cleanliness.

The first thing they saw was the milk being separated. Then they were shown the process of pasteurization and the milk going over the coolers. They also saw the milk being bottled.

The class was shown the bottle washing machine, the storage room where the milk is stored for the next day, and also the furnace for making steam.

They were told of the processes of making cottage cheese which is made with imported bacteria.

Our Merchant Marine

AMONG HISTORY'S MOST THRILLING STORIES IS THAT OF OUR MERCHANT MARINE. ITS FIRST CHAPTERS, LIKE MANY LATER ONES, WERE WRITTEN FROM STERN NECESSITY.

IT BEGINS WITH THE TERRIBLE WINTER OF 1607, WHEN THE DISCOURAGED POPHAM COLONISTS ON THE KENNEBEC RIVER, MAINE, HEWED FROM THE FOREST THE FIRST AMERICAN-BUILT COMMERCIAL VESSEL, THE 30 TON PINNACE VIRGINIA, AND SAILED IN HER TO ENGLAND.

THE NEW ENGLAND COLONISTS, LACKING VIRGINIA'S TOBACCO CROP AND FERTILE SOIL, TURNED TO THE SEA FOR THEIR LIVELIHOOD.

GREATEST FRIEND OF OUR COLONIAL SHIPPING WAS JOHN WINTHROP, FIRST GOVERNOR OF MASSACHUSETTS, WHOSE TINY SLOOP "BLESSING OF THE BAY," 1630, TRADED ALONG THE NEW ENGLAND COAST, AND EVEN WITH THE DUTCH ON MANHATTAN ISLAND.

FROM THOSE MODEST BEGINNINGS, COASTAL AND INTERCOASTAL TRADE GREW STEADILY. BY THE TIME OF OUR ENTRANCE INTO THIS WAR, MORE THAN HALF OUR TOTAL TONNAGE WAS DEVOTED EXCLUSIVELY TO THIS OPERATIONS.

and 9th grades. Bob Simon, Annabelle Barthel, and Shirley Miller, all of the sixth grade won 1st, 2nd, and 3rd prizes, respectively, in class 1 which includes grades 4, 5, and 6.

The grade school P. T. A. meeting was held Monday, May 10, 1943. The jazz band opened the meeting with a few hot numbers.

The grade school boys' baseball team is to play Allendale school for boys at Antioch this Thursday, May 13. We hope they win.

Freshmen Day for the eighth graders is Friday, May 14. The eighth graders will meet their big brothers and sisters in the morning and visit high school all day. Their lunch will be paid for by the high school.

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I—The story of their part in the battle for the Philippines is told in this and the following chapters by four of the five naval officers who are all that is left of Motor Torpedo Boat Squadron 3. They are Lieut. John Bulkeley (now Lieutenant commander), squadron commander; Lieut. R. B. Kelly; and Ensigns Anthony Akers and George E. Cox Jr. (The fifth officer, Lieut. Henry J. Brantingham, has since arrived from Australia.) The squadron, hand-picked by Bulkeley from volunteers, had come to the Philippines in the fall of 1941. They knew trouble was coming, but the events of December 7 were as much of a surprise to them as to anyone, because they thought the Philippines would be attacked first.

Lieut. Kelly, second-in-command, to whom Bulkeley delegated the task of telling most of the story, describes his preparations for war. Hearing about the secret operations orders, he went to the Officers' Club in Manila on the eve of Pearl Harbor and had a thick steak with all the trimmings. After receiving his orders from Bulkeley the next afternoon, he took three of the boats to Masferrer on Batan, where they were to report to the submarine tender for provisions and fuel. When they got there they found the tender had been ordered away. So they set up makeshift headquarters in native huts at Salmán Cove.

CHAPTER II—Lieut. Kelly continues: Refueling the boats from drums was a dangerous job. They found water and rust in the gas, but didn't know then that the gas had been sabotaged. Kelly had a badly gashed finger, but couldn't take time to go to the hospital. Lieut. Bulkeley describes the first big air raid.

CHAPTER III—Lieut. Kelly tells how he was sent to a tunnel hospital on Corregidor, where he met Peggy, a nurse. Survivors from the sinking of a shipload of refugees were brought to the hospital. Patients from Manila were also moved into the tunnel, and Kelly learned from them how badly the war was going.

CHAPTER IV—A member of a tank crew trapped by the Japs concludes his story of their escape as told to Lieut. Kelly in the tunnel hospital on Corregidor. Kelly tells of the heroism of the hospital staff, and especially of the nurse, Peggy, during a severe bombing. Ensign Akers tells some of his experiences just before Manila fell.

CHAPTER V—Ensign Akers continues, and Ensign Cox adds his story of the fall of Manila. The PT boats pulled away safely from the blazing city. Lieut. Kelly tells how he spent New Year's Eve in the hospital, while Lieut. Bulkeley discussed with the Admiral a plan of escape to China. Bulkeley tells how two of the boats, the 31 and the 34, went out into Subic Bay on a night raid.

CHAPTER VI—Lieut. Bulkeley continues: When the 31 boat didn't show up, Bulkeley, in the 34 boat, sneaked up to torpedo a cruiser. Later they learned what happened to the 31 boat. When the sabotaged gas clogged the engines they drifted and landed on a reef. All but two of the men from the 31 crew finally returned. Lieut. Kelly persuaded the doctor to let him out of the hospital and went out on patrol. They broke up a Jap landing party, then captured a landing barge.

CHAPTER VII—Lieut. Kelly continues: They captured a Jap captain and one of his men. Meanwhile the Japs, tired of being heckled by PT boats, sacrificed another ship as bait. But two of the original six torpedo boats had also been lost so far.

CHAPTER VIII—The torpedo boats took their final crack at the Japs off Batan by sinking a 10,000-ton ship. March first General MacArthur surprised them by taking a ride in one of the boats. When he returned he presented Bulkeley with the order decorating him with the D.S.C. But everyone knew something was up. Lieut. Kelly talked with Peggy, the nice little nurse on Corregidor.

CHAPTER IX—Lieut. Kelly tells how he tried to let Peggy know he might be ordered away without actually telling her anything. On March 11, Kelly continues, Lieut. Bulkeley showed them all their secret orders. They were to carry General MacArthur, his wife and son, and some additional personnel to the southern islands. They left that night. Later Kelly's boat ran into trouble and nearly missed the others.

CHAPTER X—Lieut. Kelly continues: The boats continued the trip to the southern islands where General MacArthur's party would be met by a plane.

CHAPTER XI—Lieut. Kelly continues: When they arrived at their destination, Cebu, General MacArthur, promised Lieut. Bulkeley that if it was humanly possible he would get the officers and key men of Squadron 3 out of the Philippines. While Kelly was busy getting his boat repaired, Lieut. Bulkeley was helping President Quezon escape.

"In a situation like that," said Bulkeley, "The logical thing is to get them out by firing on impulse charge—touch off some black powder in the rear of the tube which sends them scotching. But we were having trouble with the mechanism—it took a minute to get this done, and meantime the two aft torpedoes were sticking out of the tubes so far they seemed about to fall, so the two torpedomen, Houlihan and Light, got out on them with their feet, hanging on by their hands to the forward tubes, and tried to kick them loose. They couldn't, but they certainly impressed President Quezon, who, when he got to Australia, gave them the Distinguished Conduct Star of the Philippines for what they did that night, as well as to Ensign Cox and me. And it was a ticklish job for the torpedomen, too. Before we blew the torpedoes out, their back ends, where their motors are, turned pink and then bright red from the heat. On a normal run, of course, the surrounding water keeps them cool. But out of the water, they're not nice things to crawl around on.

"At first President Quezon didn't understand what was going on, and asked why we were getting ready to fire the two torpedoes. Not wanting to worry him unnecessarily, I said we were just firing them at the enemy, who was near by. When we got him ashore at Oroquieta, I explained that we'd really been in quite a dangerous situation.

"We found a passage through the coral reef outside Oroquieta just at dawn and found General Sharp waiting in his car. In order not to be recognized, Quezon tied a red bandanna over his face below his eyes. But the natives all knew him in spite of it—hats were waving from the sidewalk as he rode off down the street."

"We missed it all," said Kelly, "because we were up there in Anaken trying to repair the crumpled steel in our hind end at that little oversize garage back among the bamboo which they called a machine shop. Native divers, holding their breath, took off the struts and shafts of the rudders and the propellers. We tried to pound the propellers back into shape with hammers on palm logs, while the proprietor did his best to straighten the rest in his machine shop.

"Finally there was a trial run. She'd make only 12 knots—a fraction of her normal speed—and the vibration was terrible; you'd think someone had packed an earthquake in our lazaret.

CHAPTER XII

"At about this time the skipper showed up. He told us about the trip for Quezon and the damage to the 35 boat, which he had towed into Cebu for repairs. He was still out hunting for the 32 boat, which hadn't been seen since he left it to rendezvous with the submarine on the MacArthur trip, and he had one-third of the entire American air force of the southern Philippines out combing the island channels for her. One-third of this American southern Philippine air force consisted of exactly one Beechcraft commercial pleasure plane, which when war started had been commandeered from a civilian, and an army major who flew Bulkeley around in it. The other two-thirds were a wheezy P-40 and a very tired P-35. Bulkeley risked his neck for days in this search, not knowing, of course, that the 32 boat had been sunk and her commander was now safely en route to Australia.

"The skipper was frantic to get some of our little fleet back into commission so we could finish out the fight. We'd started the war with six boats. Two were lost off Batan. One was lost on the escape trip south. That left only three, and two of these were wrecks, fit only for the dry dock, Bulkeley's being the only craft left in fighting condition. But he was bound to get the others back into shape. Did I think I could get mine to Cebu? It was the second largest city in the Philippines and they had a real machine shop—no dry dock but a marine railway, one of those contraptions where a track goes down the beach into the sea. You load the boat onto a small car and winch it up the track.

"Well, we could try, and we started off, my poor old boat with her earthquake, making twelve knots, her back end wiggling like a shipwrecked sailor's dream of a French musical-comedy star. Whatever she was good for now, it wasn't fighting, and I was glad we didn't meet any Japs.

"The machine shop was run by 'Dad' Cleland, a seventy-one-year-old American who'd been in the islands since 1914, and a swell gent he was—originally from Minnesota and a typical hulking frontiersman. Didn't look a day over fifty and was a kind of patriarch in those parts. His native name meant 'the old man' or 'the headman' in Tagalog.

"He was a great gourmet, too. Had Bulkeley and me out to dinner and we had bottled beer (a great rarity), a big crab-meat cocktail, and then lobster Newburg, which was delicious, but 'Dad' kept warning us to hold back, because then he broke out a couple of roast ducks. 'Dad' and I divided the biggest duck between us and had all we could hold. The skipper here, on account of his rank, rated a duck all to himself, but he foundered and couldn't finish it. On the side there were canned asparagus and corn, pickles and sweet potatoes.

"Dessert was simple, like the last bars of a symphony. Just delicious chilled mangoes and Chase & Sanborn's coffee. It was a magnificent feed after the native chow I'd been eating. We talked about the war. People in Cebu felt the show was about up, unless miraculous help arrived soon.

"What are you going to do when the Japs come? we asked 'Dad.' He straightened up—all six feet two of him.

"Have my dignity to think about," he said. "I'm not going to the hills. I'll stay right here and face them. They can get me if they can, but they'll have a fight on their hands first."

"'Dad' was working for the government for a dollar a year. When he finally finished with our repairs

—they took many days—we asked him how much the bill was. "We'll forget about it," he said. "You fight 'em and I'll fix 'em. It's the least I can do."

"He clenched his big fist, and it was about the size of a nail keg. Since I've come back here I've read about some outfits working on war contracts who were paying their stenographers fifty thousand dollars a year and charging it to the government as expenses until they were caught. It's a waste of time to indict them. Just get old 'Dad' Cleland back here and let him go in and reason with them in their swivel chairs. With those big fists of his, he'd know how to expostulate with racketeers like that."

"Until we got to Cebu we hadn't been paid since the war started. Well, in Cebu the men all got paid and it was quite a spectacle. The dozen on my boat, going from bar to bar, got rid of two thousand dollars in three days. If it had been two million instead, they would have got rid of it just as quick, although it might have strained them some. Then they settled back to their routine means of livelihood, which was playing poker with the army."

"But things were moving in Cebu, and very secretly we began to hear hints of a big American offensive which was coming rolling up from the south through the islands in time to save Batan, which was almost out of food and ammunition. Word came that two submarines were arriving in Cebu, where they would be loaded with food and returned to Batan—we brought the first one in through the channel.

"It was a big secret—the area was cleared for two miles around. The loading was done at night and by officers only—we helped until our hands were raw—because they were fearful that some sailor or soldier might drop a hint of it in a native bar where it would get to the Japs.

For three solid nights we worked until my back and arms ached, stowing all that stuff in the subs, but all the time I kept thinking of Peggy and the grand old gang up there on the Rock and what was left of the peninsula—fighting on without hope or food. Well, here was a little of both. We were sending them. To make more room they stripped the submarines of torpedoes—gave 'em to us, four for the 35 boat if we could ever get her into action, two for the 41 boat, which already had two, and charged them for us with compressed air from the submarine's tanks. Now MTB's were ready for battle, and into the submarine's empty tubes we stuffed food, and I kept thinking, as we shoved it in—there's another square meal for Peggy back there on the Rock.

"But that wasn't half of it. Because in addition to the subs—the last one shoved off on April 5—there were seven fat interisland steamers being secretly loaded with food down near 'Dad' Cleland's dock—medical supplies, quinine the boys were dying without, everything they needed to hold on. But how could they hope to get these fat little tubs up through the islands to Batan? Bulkeley was to find out three days later."

"The General in command at Cebu called me in and verified the hints we'd heard of the big American offensive," said Bulkeley. "He assured me everything was set. It was to start at dawn the very next morning. That very night, twelve fortresses and heavy bombers were coming up from Australia. A swarm of P-35's were on their way up from Mindanao to Iloilo, where they were to gas up and go into action.

"The bombers were to land at Mindanao, gas up, take off, and blow the be-Jesus out of every Jap worship in the region, and meanwhile the convoy of interisland steamers would start for Batan, bringing food enough for weeks. Batan was to be saved after all.

"The General showed me messages from all the other generals who commanded in different islands, co-ordinating the offensive. But there was one minor hitch, he explained.

"Aerial reconnaissance had spotted a couple of Jap destroyers steaming down the coast of Negros Island. Somewhat to the eastward there was a cruiser which carried four seaplanes, but they weren't worried about it. But that afternoon reports had come in giving the progress of the Jap destroyers. Obviously they were heading toward Cebu. Maybe they had broken down our American codes and knew about the interisland steamers, and were coming in either to blockade them or to shell them at the dock.

"Why couldn't we have a part in this great offensive which tomorrow was to sweep up and blast Jap shipping and warships between Mindanao, Cebu, and Batan?" Lieutenant Kelly thought. "We could be helpful by going out tonight and knocking off one or both of those Jap destroyers, which by midnight should be approaching the narrow channel between Cebu and Negros Islands. The cruiser—never mind her, American bombers would polish her off in the morning."

"Bulkeley came in at eight o'clock that night and told me about it," said Kelly. "My boat had been in the water just four hours—she was supposed to sneak for twenty-four before she should be exposed to any pounding, but I asked him if it couldn't go out with him. 'I was hoping you'd like to,' the skipper told me. 'Think you can make it?' 'I don't know,' I said, 'but we'll soon find out. This'll be as good a dock trial for her as any.'"

"To man the boats I called for volunteers," said Bulkeley. "I had no trouble about that. I guess they understood by now that any man who doesn't volunteer won't be in the squadron long if I can get rid of him."

"They were all tickled to be in on the big offensive," said Kelly. "It

"He clenched his big fist, and it was about the size of a nail keg," was apparently so well prepared that the army had given us the radio frequency of the co-ordinating planes—that big American air umbrella which would be spread over us at dawn—in case we needed to talk with them."

"We got out to the island passage about 11:30 that night and sneaked in close to shore," said Bulkeley. "The moon wasn't due until 2:30. I was riding in the 41 boat, Ensign Cox commanding, while Kelly had his 34 boat. We'd worked out our strategy. If two destroyers showed up, my boat was to tackle the leading one and Kelly the second. If only one arrived, my boat would attack her on the quarter, and Kelly's on the bow.

"At five minutes to twelve Glover, the quartermaster at the wheel, called 'Look—there she is!' A black object was coming round the point. 'Jumping Jesus!' said Glover. 'There she is!'—because it was no little Jap destroyer but a thundering big Kuma class cruiser sliding around that point—so clear we could almost make out her 6-inch guns.

"I gave our boat a hard right rudder, sneaking in toward the shore where the cruiser couldn't see us. Apparently she was alone. Now we curved out, into firing position, on her port beam, making as little noise as we could, and as she passed, five hundred yards away, Cox fired two torpedoes, but they straddled her."

"We fired two from our side," said Kelly, "but they also missed." "After that," said Ensign Cox, "we in the 41 boat made a wide arc and attacked again with our last two torpedoes—Bulkeley himself firing them, and this time two of them hit, right under the bridge. They made no flash, but a good bump and a column of water. But even before that the cruiser had waked up—probably saw the wakes of one of the torpedoes—anyway she speeded up, to twenty-five knots and her searchlight came on and she waved it wildly around in the air, probably looking for torpedo planes."

"Our torpedoes were all gone in the 41 boat," said Bulkeley, "but I turned around and ran astern of the cruiser to draw her fire so Kelly could get in for his second attack. Then we saw the destroyers, but they wouldn't give chase, although I tried to create the illusion of a lot of boats by firing machine-gun tracers."

"When the cruiser's searchlight came on," said Kelly, "I turned right to cross her wake and came in on her other quarter. She picked me up astern with her lights and began banging away at me with her secondary batteries—50-calibers and 40-millimeter guns—from about twelve hundred yards. The stuff was going right over our heads in a continuous stream of fire.

"But I was good and mad because our first torpedoes had missed," said Kelly, "so I decided to chase her. I told one machine-gunner to fire at her searchlight, which was blinding me, and the others to sweep her decks to get her gun crews."

"After a few minutes' chase, we had closed in to three hundred yards—so close that her searchlight seemed to be coming right down on us from an angle—about like the sun in mid-afternoon. Then I drew out onto her starboard quarter and fired our last two torpedoes—an overtaking shot. They were the last two our squadron was to fire in the war.

"Then I gave the boat a hard right rudder and started running away—for we were defenseless now except for our machine guns. But the rain of Jap tracers kept right on, and suddenly another Jap ship showed up fifteen hundred yards away. Bath started firing their main batteries at me and we were trapped between—splashes all around us now, as close as twenty-five yards. We started zigzagging wildly, trying to dodge the two searchlights, and also the stream of fire which were crisscrossing above our heads like wicker baskets, and landing in the water all around us. It seemed like weeks, but was probably only a few seconds. My junior officer, Ensign Richardson, had the wheel, while I was watching the cruiser through my binoculars. Suddenly I saw a big splash and detonation in the middle of her belly—another two seconds, another splash and detonation right in her engine room! Our overtaking shots had both hit home! Her searchlight went from bright yellow to orange to red to dull brick-red and finally winked out. Every gun stopped firing. She was jet-black now.

"But I didn't have much time for philosophizing, because this other destroyer was on my starboard bow, closing in, banging away with her 5½-inch guns and me with only 50-caliber machine guns left."

"Kelly got twenty-three salvos of 5½-inch steel that night," said Bulkeley. "But there was no doubt that his two torpedoes polished off the cruiser. I saw her searchlight fade out, and heavy yellow smoke arise. Her stern was under in three minutes—the destroyer put the searchlight on her decks, where the Japs were all running around, not knowing where to go—and she had sunk in twenty."

"But I was running around with three destroyers after me, which were firing all they had, and I could see another one hot on Kelly's tail. That was the last I could see of him and I thought he was a goner. "My destroyers chased me down to Misamis, but at dawn I dove into a place to hide—there were six miles of shallow water where they couldn't follow even if they had seen me. We spent the day sleeping."

ROTC Training Proving Value In War Today

"Dividends now being realized by the country more than justify the investment the government has made in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps during the 24 years of its existence," according to Col. Leonard C. Sparks, commandant of the University of Illinois ROTC.

The University's corps of cadets is the largest of any non-military school in the nation. Two years of military training are required of all men students; and two years of optional advanced training lead to an army commission.

Military training has been required of all Illinois men since the University opened 75 years ago. Since the World war, this training has been given by the ROTC.

"During the 24 years of the existence of the ROTC, the University of Illinois alone has furnished more than 4,000 officers to the army," Colonel Sparks said. "This University always has had one of the largest ROTC in the country, and never has questioned its obligations both to federal and state governments to maintain this corps. The facilities provided for the ROTC by the University are unsurpassed by any other large institution in the country."

"While the basic training and advanced course are an integral part of the national defense program, they also are designed to develop qualities of loyalty, respect for authority, and initiative—all of which are essential to good citizenship and to leadership in civil as well as military life."

WATC Trains U. of I. Co-eds As Army Aides

Advantages which the ROTC has provided to the army in its regular units are offered to the WAAC by the new WATC—Women's Auxiliary Training Corps—at the University of Illinois. It is sponsored by the military department and the Dean of Women.

The training closely follows that given in WAAC camps. It covers two years. First year subjects are basic instruction such as is given to the auxiliaries (enlisted members) of the WAAC. Second year subjects are equivalent to WAAC officer instruction.

WATC training, like that of the WAAC, is to prepare women to work with the armed forces, taking over clerical and non-combatant duties to free men for the fighting fronts. To carry on these duties, the women must have an understanding of army organization and discipline, activities, duties, and life.

The co-eds learn military drill without arms. They wear a simple uniform of brown skirt, blouse, and tie, with an "overseas" type cap. Their organization is similar to that of ROTC cadets. Instruction is by army officers and cadet officers of the university ROTC.

The WATC may not only be a source of pre-trained personnel for the WAAC, but its instructors, familiar with WAAC subjects, may be valuable to expansion of the WAAC if its growth overtakes the camps provided. In an emergency, members of the WAAC could be sent to the University for instruction by the persons already familiar in this field.

Bowling

Bowling Tourney Is Off to Good Start

According to information from Danny Palaske of the Antioch Recreation, the current singles and doubles tournament will see the largest field of bowlers ever to enter an event of this kind since the alleys were installed several years ago.

A great many bowlers from surrounding towns are availing themselves of the opportunity to bowl in the tourney as well as a great number of locals.

According to Danny the prize list will be about double of last year's total. If entries keep on coming in at the rate they have been, the first prize of 24% of all the prize money will amount to considerably over $100.

The tourney ends May 23 and it is expected that large numbers of bowlers will flock to the tourney the last few days.
